

Native Plant Society of BC

Native Plant Sales for spring 2011

The NPSBC organizes and/or supports a number of specialty native plant sales held each spring in the South Coast and Islands regions of British Columbia. These sales offer a wide selection of species native to the West Coast, from Alaska to northern California. They provide one of the best opportunities to purchase plants from specialty nurseries that are not commonly available or which sell out early in the season; and they also offer expert information on growing native species in the garden.
